Us, in Memories.

Kak ina, hi. It's been awhile. Maybe this will be one of the longest note from me. got a few months...to send this..kak ina...

kak ina, i really want to meet you... and i cried on the night that i told you, i miss you...i miss you...but realise that we are not the same anymore...if only i can just look at you from afar..even just for a few minutes..

kak ina, tbh i really excited to meet baby alysha.....really want to ask you, her picture, really want to see kak ina with baby alysha..when alysha day1..but everything was different for us back then..and i realise it just me...excited to share..to kak ina...but..i really understand kak ina. After all I did, kak ina can't still be the same..as i was slowly changing too... 🥺 kak ina, I still can remember the happiest feeling that night when kak ina invited me to alysha's aqiqah. Tbh i really excited and got a few days to think, i want to bring a present to baby alysha..really want to hold her...and

On thursday, after the class end, i still remembered the raining pour.... i was walking alone, asking the strangers which one as newbie mommy, will be happy to have a gift for their baby... and.. i went to kbmall to find a store that can create alysha's name. there a lot of things going through in my mind...thinking wheather kak ina okay dgn hadiah in belikan untuk alysha... kak ina, i really excited to meet baby alysha.. but then, i was truly happy when i see baby alysha's name finally done. baby alysha's name was really beautiful on it, kak ina. 💕

Kak ina, this years, since few months ago, and since yesterday..., i've been reflect myself in the whole night.. reflect on what i've been did toward you since everything was change, reflect on what we've been through. the things that have been changed between us.. reading how kak ina's reply..every time we text...every time i wish a goodnight...and i tried to read our text yesterday..and i read back when the time i'm asking when im worried that kak ina will feel uncomfortable if i went to alysha's aqiqah day...kak ina, i'm sorry that i don't have courage to meet you, to be in your families happy day especially for baby alysha's day. i really want kak ina to have good and happy memories where i was not there.. im sorry, maybe by posting a gift to baby alysha, seems improper way, but i really happy to made a gift for her..really waiting to the day i can give to her..get to see her..😞 I'm sorry...

I'm sorry if you are with me, there is more hurt than happy times in your life kak ina...youve ben through a lot of things.. how i wish i still can keep my promise to be there for you every journey that we go through. Kak ina... I love you the most in my life as the only one kakak in my life. Only you will hold the title of kakak until the end of my life. Thankyou for being the only friend that I introduce to arwah mak. I still can remember that day; our first met. We went to eat roti canai, after that. With our sunny day, kak ina was wearing sunglasses, we both sat in front of kubur mak...and i told mom, that i bring kak ina's here. I still can remember, how happy i feel at that time. I looked at kak ina, while kak ina's looked at mak, trying to remember on my mum date, kak ina was struggling with the last year report and final exam of kak ina's degree. Thankyou for making my childish feel alive. You did save me...

And we went to eat kimchi fried rice and with one mineral bottle at seoul garden , playing bowling, and yes senior will always win 😂 and kak ina buy me a cake, oreo cheesecake, and a sweatshirt. That still being the only one my fav sweatshirt. And...our first mcdonald's breakfast in the car, parking in front of SMIP under the tree. and the guard that looked at our car..wondering why we parked there.. And baskin robbin ice cream.. and my first time eating sushi bonanza, and that was my first and my last sushi date..went to tealive for buy a drink for kakak and umi, and went to pharmacy to buy medicine for umi bring while getting on plane... the day i cooked for kak ina, thankyou for coming to meet me even after kak ina was very tired after work... Thankyou for giving me the chance to keep my promise to at least for only one time that I want to cook for you sambal udang, and thank you for your time...all of our memories.... it's still the best memories for me.

Kak ina, in 2023, kak ina will start a new year without me.

Kak ina, please be the happiest girl, just like before kak ina met me. Smile a lot just like before you know me... You wont get hurt anymore after this...

In 2023, You will go and meet mahalini  you will achieve your dream, you will go to a concert and you will meet your fav singer!! i was really happy to know that. In the future, I can't get to ask how you are after this, how your life, how your work, where the place you will work in future, where are you living at, what you likes/not likes, to remind you to eat and drink, to take care on your period day. but i know kak ina.. kak ina will be filled with more happy memories. with kak ina's family, and bestfriends in future kak ina. Sorry for all of the negative vibe and overthinking that I made you go through. Kakak, whenever you feel exhausted, I hope you will take a rest in a while. Be strong in what you do, because I am always there silently praying and believing in you. Please take care of your solat, and your health, yourself💕

Kak ina, every year on 02 August, i will always silently wishing for your birthday from here. i will always remember that date, that day... i will sit alone, promise to myself. And drink ice chocolate only on your birthday. When I miss you, I will look at our pictures and rewatch all our videos. I will reread the note that I write all about the list of what kak ina's like and what kak ina's didn't like. I guess that I can't get to know what you will like and what you don't like in future..anymore.. I will always appreciate you in that way...
